Prized by Royalty for Rapid Pain Relief

Rejure is a classical Ayurvedic pain relief oil that was historically reserved for the rich and powerful. The first recorded use of Rejure was in 1674 at the royal court of the Indian warrior king Shivaji Bhonsle I of Maratha. A veteran of brutal hand-to-hand combat, the king's pain was treated by daily massages with a healing oil made from the strongest herbs on the subcontinent. Our Rejure oil is manufactured according to Shivaji's physician's exact written recipe. The base layer is a blend of pure sesame and eucalyptus oils. The sesame oil detoxifies and improves skin health while the eucalyptus has powerful muscle relaxant, anti-inflammatory & antioxidant properties.

Rub Out Stubborn Aches & Stiffness

Rejure oil rubs easily into the skin while moisturizing it and delivering the medicinal compounds deep into the soft tissues beneath. It is astonishingly potent and fast acting. The magic of Rejure is in what people don't feel: discomfort, throbbing, aching, burning, tingling, swelling & inflammation. Customers report a welcome sense of comfort, ease and mobility in their joints, ligaments and neuromuscular tissue. In addition to quick relief, Rejure's ingredients have antiviral, anti-aging, antibacterial, anti-fungal and anti-inflammatory properties and it can also be used on age spots and rough or dry skin.

More Than 700 Medicinal Compounds in Each Drop!

The solid roots, twigs, seeds, flowers and leaves are gradually dissolved by the heat and boiled down into a dark "muck," which gets squeezed and triple-filtered as the final step. The end result of this lengthy process is a thin, pale amber oil with a sweet, earthy & mentholated fragrance. A spectrographic analysis performed on a recent batch of Rejure oil identified at least 740 distinct molecular compounds. It is so saturated and dense with medicinal plant compounds that almost nothing else can be dissolved into the oil, no matter how long or vigorously it is stirred.

We infuse 42 of the most powerful known herbs from the Indian Ayurvedic pharmacopeia into the oil base. These range from the mighty Himalayan cedar and the eerie “broken bones tree” to the delicate snow lotus & spiked ginger lily. Due to the sheer breadth of its botanical diversity, we’ve nicknamed Rejure a “forest in a bottle.” Each individual herb contains, on average, at least 40 medicinal compounds. Our production team boils and cools the herbs a total of 59 times in a steel cauldron to fully extract every last bit of potency. According to the tradition, the number 59 auspiciously represents the number of lowercase characters in the Sanskrit alphabet. It takes over 3 months of labor to handcraft a single batch of Rejure, but our team in Goa, India, plugs away at it with an almost fanatical devotion to the ritual. Available in 1oz (30mL) bottles, $80 MSRP.
